FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Spirit Airlines signs a service agreement for the delivery of the market-leading training management system "MINT TRMS."

KIEL, 12th February 2019 - MINT Software Systems, the leading manufacturer of training management solutions for the aviation industry, today announces the signature of a service agreement with Spirit Airlines for the implementation of the web-based training management system MINT TRMS.

"We are very proud to welcome Spirit Airlines to our growing international MINT user community," says Frank Vieira Hugger Director Sales and Marketing at MINT Software Systems. "Spirit's training experts have evaluated the available training management systems on the market very carefully and have selected our software as an excellent platform for the future support of their growing business."

"The modern and scalable training management software MINT TRMS will be a great enhancement for our crew training program," says Gary McMillan, Senior Director – Flight Training and Standards at Spirit Airlines. "We were looking for the most powerful, and in the same time flexible qualification, training and resource management solution available on the market, and the decision to select the services and the people at MINT is the correct decision," he adds.

MINT TRMS allows training planners, instructors and crews with "anytime, anywhere" online access to their training schedules, electronic grading forms, reports, learning materials, and other training related data. It simplifies and optimizes the management of instructor schedules, classroom distribution, student allocation and the planning and optimization of flight simulator schedules.

The agreement with Spirit Airlines includes the MINT hosted (SaaS) MINT TRMS Premium Edition for the effective management of training schedules, record management, e-grading, in-depth reporting and performance analysis capabilities, as well as the integration to various IT systems including the crew rostering system used by Spirit Airlines.
